A Word From Our Artistic Managing Director...

Welcome to Season 36 and our first production, Hands on a Hard Body. This all-American musical is inspired by the true events of the acclaimed 1997 documentary of the same name by S.R. Bindler.

The show premiered on Broadway at the Brooks Atkinson Theatre in New York City on March 21, 2013.

Directed by Neil Pepe, the production featured Keala Settle, Keith Carradine, Hunter Foster, Jay Armstrong Johnson and Dale Soules. The musical was previously presented by La Jolla Playhouse in La Jolla, California, on June 6, 2012.

The musical received three Tony Award nominations, nine Drama Desk Award nominations including Outstanding Musical, and won in the Outstanding Sound Design category and received three Outer Critics Circle Award nominations, including Outstanding New Broadway Musical.

This musical explores a diverse cross-section of a small-town Texas community and the trials they'll endure for a chance to win a piece of the American Dream. During this survival of the fittest contest the characters reveal their true selves including those ugly dark hidden sides we tend to keep hidden; revealing their own vision for the realization of their American Dream -- keeping their hands on it as long as they can.

So just Keep Your Hand on the Truck and I hope you enjoy our little musical contest of stamina, endurance and pure will !

Enjoy the Show!
